

I Am Shark

I am shark.

In the day I soar in and out of the up flowing coral,
But when night falls upon me I search for a place to sleep
And when I sleep, I dream.

I dream I am the biggest shark in ocean,
Intimidating everything with my three hundred teeth,
Devouring everything in my path.

I dream I am swimming in the kelp forest
Like a spotted Dalmatian hunting clams for my miniature pups.

I dream my head is a hammer
Smashing up my prey in the tropical seas off the coast of Mexico,
Leaving a trail of destruction behind me.

I dream I swim with my mouth open as wide as a cave entrance,
Coming up to the surface in the moonlit night of Hawaii,
Scattering the fish in my paths

I dream I glide through the tropical seas of India hunting under the glistening moon,
Stalking my prey in the shallow waters close to the shore,
Creeping in the shadows of the pier, waiting for some tasty fish to appear in the light of the ocean.

And I speak of my dreams so you can dream them too.
